Rademacher Named to Replace Pepler on St. Vrain and Left Hand Water Conservancy District Board

LONGMONT - Michael Rademacher has been appointed to replace long time Director Vernon Pepler on the St. Vrain and Left Hand Water Conservancy District Board of Directors.

Pepler served out his last term after serving as the District President for 32 years beginning in 1978.

“While Vern’s tremendous dedication and historical perspective will be greatly missed, we are pleased to add someone with such a strong community presence and agricultural background as Mike to replace him,” said Board President Dennis Yanchunas.

“I’m excited for this opportunity and I am eager to contribute to the District as they enter their 40th year of service to the St. Vrain and Left Hand river basins,” Rademacher said. “The District has a strong legacy of providing creative and sustainable solutions to meet the wide ranging water needs in our basins; I am thrilled to be adding to that legacy.”

About the St. Vrain and Left Hand Water Conservancy District

The St. Vrain & Left Hand Water Conservancy District was organized April 19, 1971 as a non-profit water conservancy district. In addition to its 39 year history of being an education clearinghouse and a leader in resolving local water conflicts, the District has been providing augmentation water to 230 members throughout the two basins since 2002.
