Lyle Named to Replace Macy on St. Vrain and Left Hand Water Conservancy District Board

LONGMONT - Doug Lyle has been appointed to replace Dave Macy on the St. Vrain and Left Hand Water Conservancy District Board of Directors. He will serve out the remaining year of Macy's term as one of nine Directors.

Macy resigned in April after serving 28 years on the Board of Directors.

"While Dave's extensive water knowledge will be greatly missed, we are pleased to add someone of Doug Lyle's caliber to replace him," said Board President Dennis Yanchunas.

"I'm excited to be involved with the water challenges facing the St. Vrain and Left Hand river basins," Lyle said. "I am looking forward to adding to the District's legacy of providing creative and sustainable solutions to meet the wide ranging water needs in our basins."

About the St. Vrain and Left Hand Water Conservancy District

The St. Vrain & Left Hand Water Conservancy District was organized April 19, 1971 as a non-profit water conservancy district under the Water Conservancy Act of the State of Colorado. In addition to its 39 year history of being an education clearinghouse and a leader in resolving local water conflicts, the District has been providing augmentation water to 230 members throughout the two basins since 2002.
